Bond-Taylor

A marriage of widespread interest was solemnized on Wednesday June 12, when Dora Isabel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Taylor became the wife of Donald William, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bond of Champion. The ceremony was performed by Dr. George Kirby of Mount Royal College, Calgary, of which institution the bride is an ex-student, assisted by Rev. Finlay, pastor.

The church was artistically decorated for the occasion with large potted ferns and beautiful baskets of carnations and spira and while waiting for the arrival of the bridal party the assembled guests and spectators enjoyed music delightfully rendered by Miss Arline Reinicke of Clatskanie, who provided accompaniments and wedding marches during the whole ceremony.

Immediately preceding the arrival of the bridal party Miss Marian Mack of Clatskanie, making a graceful picture in her blue and white gown with a corsage of sweet peas, sang, "O Promise Me" with great charm.

To the strains of the Lohengrin Wedding March, the bride, on the arm of her father, entered the well filled church promptly at 3:30 p.m. Her simply-furnished floor-length gown of white silk pique organdie with long sleeves and fluttering hemline, her lace and net veil flowing from a cap-like effect adorned with orange blossoms subtly emphasized her blonde beauty. She carried a shower bouquet of butterfly and lily of the valley and holding her were her maid of honor, Miss Rheta Campbell of Champion, charmingly attired in Nile green organdie and matching hat in mesh with white accessories carrying an arm bouquet of pink carnations, and her flower girl, little Nancy Doreen Parker in white ruffled, and a gaud carrying a no-gay of s-s-e-t pass. The groom was supported by Mr. Andrew Anderson of Lethbridge.

During the signing of the register Miss Mack sang beautifully "At Dusk" then led by the bride and groom, the party left the church to the strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding march impressively rendered by Miss Reinicke.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the spacious room of which were flower-bedecked with sweet peas, carnations, and snap-dragon, and at which about sixty guests joined in wishing the happy young couple joy and prosperity in their future life. Dr. Kirby, in his customary happy style, adding much to the gaiety of the occasion.

In the receiving line with the bride and groom and attendants were the bride's mother, who wore flowered organdie in mauve shades with white accessories. Mrs. Bond mother of the groom, gown in a navy blue and white crepe ensemble and the groom's sisters Mrs. Ted Ashmore and Mrs. J. V. Vane, the former wearing floweredorgette and the latter Alice blue crepe.

A white and silver motif was chosen for the adornment of the dining table, from which a delicious buffet lunch was served. The exquisite cloth of uncoloured linen and lace was contrasted by a three-tier bride's cake. A large white Wedding Bell canopied the cake and white streamers with tiny silver balls connected with the corner of the table. The bride and groom and party sat with a basket-ful of foliage and flowers.

A berry of gaily-dressed girls, the Misses Joy Panchuk, Mary Bowman, Kathryn Messenger, Mary Webster and Mary Parker, helped in serving. Mrs. Messenger and Mrs. Parker poured for the hostess.

After lunch the bride and groom left for Calgary where a short honeymoon will be spent prior to going to reside in Rosebud, where the groom is in business.

The bride travelled in a tailored dress of sea-blue silk and wool knit fabric and a tailored top coat in cream polo cloth and white hat and accessories. She carried a small leather over-night bag, the gift of the groom.

Mr. Bonds taken to the maid of honor was a leather travelling case, to Mr. Anderson he gave a leather pocket book and to Nancy Parker a piece of jewelry.

The regular meeting of the board of trustees of the Champion Consolidated school district was held on Tuesday, June 11th. All members were present and also R. I. Baker, principal. The mill rate for 1935 was set at 30 mills, being a reduction of two mills from last year. The resignation of Miss Anderson was accepted and Miss Helen Holm was selected as teacher for the intermediate public school room in her stead. The report of the High School Inspector was read, the salaries of the teachers for the coming term were adopted, and Miss Beulah Walker of Vulcan was hired to teach music in the school. Heating of the cottage school was discussed and arrangements were made for improvements.

The hall was crowded on Friday night when the Knights of Harem, a colored troupe, played for a dance here. The music was well enjoyed, among the features was some fine step dancing by a nine-year old boy of Calgary who is travelling with them in order to earn money to attend a dancing school. One of the troupe also gave a good exhibition of step dancing.

Your Family's Health is Worth Protecting

Food spoiling days are here! Are you still gambling with your family's health? It's risky business — and so expensive as well, especially when a new 1935 Electric Refrigerator can be obtained for less than 20 cents per day — is so economical to operate — AND IS ABSOLUTE PROTECTION AGAINST FOOD CONTAMINATION. Your family is certainly worth the small cost of this smart, modern guardian of good health.

MONTHLY INSTALLMENTS

Monthly installments run from only $3.97 for the new top-spirator model to $8.97 and $10.00 for the first two standard models in Refrigerator, General Electric and Westinghouse makes. Down payments are 50 cents less in each case.

A NEW EASY PLAN ONLY 1-25th DOWN

You need to make a down payment of only 1/25th of the cost of the refrigerator you desire, and it will be delivered to your home. The balance may be divided into 24 similar installments, payable on your electric light bill, with a carrying charge of only 30 cents per month. THERE ARE NO INTEREST CHARGES.

No other plan offers you such an easy way of securing the health protection of an Electric Refrigerator. You have your choice of General Electric, Westinghouse, or Frigidaire makes.

Vacation Days

That happy period in childhood, the mid-summer school holidays, is near at hand. With shouts of joy, laughter, and on running feet the boys and girls of Canada will announce to all the world "School's out! They will then look back to the days of their childhood with a sense of loss and longing for the workers of the world, and all kinds of proposals are advanced as to how those leisure hours may be spent in order that they may prove a blessing rather than a drawback in the development of a better type of citizen, in order that they may add to the pleasure and true enjoyment of life rather than tend towards pure idleness and even selfishness.

Now, with two months of absence from their children, what are Canadian parents planning for these energetic boys and girls, to keep them out of mischief and to make this vacation time freed from study wholly beneficial and an asset which will prove of value in better health, clearer minds, and a most wholesome outlook on life—in a word, prepare these citizens of the future to return to the school rooms some weeks hence for another period of study and preparation for life?

Older boys and girls are already home from college, annual church conferences and assemblies have been held, nurses' graduation from hospitals are completed, examinations of all kinds are nearing an end, teachers, too, will be free of their duties, spring work on the farm is past, and in town and city the quiet time in business is at hand. Thus the older generation is able to devote more time and more thought to making these happy days of childhood a real joy and blessing not only to the children but to themselves.

And so the question arises, ought to be faced, what can we do individually and collectively to make the summer vacation of 1935 a never-to-be-forgotten period in the lives and memories of Canada's boys and girls,—your own boys and girls? It is a responsibility to be discharged, just as it is a pleasure to be met. The responsibility is not only to the child, but to the combined responsibility and pleasure for parents, and unalloyed pleasure for children, should not be neglected this year especially, following, as it does, so many years of economic depression and, for many in this western country, disastrous crop failures and business reverses.

Fortunately, it does not cost much in money to give children a good time, a happy holiday. Fortunately, again, Canada is blessed by Nature with almost innumerable beauty spots for holiday purposes. There is not a province in Canada which does not abound with the large and small, summer resorts and camping grounds are numerous, places to camp and picnic are to be found in easily accessible places. Full advantage should be taken of these to provide outings for the boys and girls, even though individual circumstances may make such outings of brief duration.

In summer time especially Canada is a land for out-of-doors. Get the boys and girls out into the open, and keep them there as much as possible. They are in school rooms and shut up in houses in the winter for long months of the year; they need the health-giving properties of the air throughout the summer holiday season, the clean, invigorating fresh air, the delights of forest and lake. Get them as close as possible to Nature in her happiest moods and most beautiful dress.

And make these vacation days of lasting benefit in other ways. See that the boys and girls are taught to swim. It is little less than a crime that so many Canadian boys and girls never learn to swim, and so many tragedies result which are so easily preventable. The art of swimming should be a part of every child's education. It is not only one of the best forms of exercise, making for the development of muscle; it is not only a source of great pleasure; but it is a preparation for emergencies that may arise in their own lives or in the lives of others.

Inconspicuously, too, the work of the school room can be carried forward. Powers of observation can be developed and strengthened during vacation days spent in the open; habits of cleanliness, neatness, orderliness, can be made a part of camp and holiday life and accepted as part of the fun, which will stand children in good stead in future years; initiative, ideas in handicrafts, resort to simple invention to meet the lack of usual equipment at home—all these things mean a greater all-round development of character.

An elaborately organized holiday is not necessary, neither should much expense be entailed. Get out with the children and rough it for a while. They will enjoy it just as much, perhaps more, than an expensive trip or outing where everything is planned and arranged for them. To a large extent, the boys and girls should do a full share of the camp or holiday work. Properly organized and time systematically divided between these duties and the hours of play, boys and girls will enjoy and benefit from during the camp chores.

Forget the motor car occasionally, and spend a day on a hike. Older lads know the delights and benefits of a walking tour, or a day's hike, which Canadians have not learned to appreciate. Try one this year with your older boys and girls.

Think up other things and ways in which this holiday season can be made happy, healthful and useful. Vacation days present an opportunity to get closer to your children than is possible in the busier days of the year. It is an opportunity for you to study them; ascertain their weaknesses, or strength; gain their confidence in larger measure; learn of their ambitions, and as a result be in a better position to mold their characters along right lines, and check tendencies and habits, hitherto unnoted by you, which would prove a handicap to them, and a possible source of future worry and sorrow to yourself as well as to them.

Lloyd's Insure Vimy Pilgrimage

Stress Necessity Of Making Early Bookings

The Canadian Legion announced today that Lloyd's of London, England, have insured the Vimy Pilgrimage, to be held in July of next year, against abandonment in the event of war, financial panic or other untoward events.

Bookings are pouring into the steamship companies. Hope is expressed by Legion officials that the service men listed the necessity of registering early in order to be certain of accommodation.

"It is difficult to impress a veteran with the idea of making a ten dollar deposit now when he knows he can pay the full hundred and sixty dollars when the time comes," said Captain Ben Allen, Dominion organizer, to the press today. "Early bookings are necessary, however, so that we can get enough ships to take care of the thousands who intend going."

"And pilgrims only are going to be allowed to sail in this Peace Armada. Also we must arrange early for billeting accommodation and rail and motor transportation in France. The naval, military and civil authorities in France, Belgium and England are extending us every co-operation. It looks like Canada's year in Europe next year."

Held Up By Robin

Nesting Bird Delays Altering Of Highway

Plans to alter a huge electric sign fronting the Canadian National station in Winnipeg were thwarted out of consideration for a mother robin whose nest is attached to the letter "P."

Worded of a new sign designed to replace the old had been carefully worked out. Electricians were summoned and all was in readiness to flush out the attractions of summer excursions. Then office workers who had seen the bird sitting on her eggs reported to officials, and it was decided, excursions or no excursions, Mrs. Robin must not be disturbed. Menstruating efforts were being made to work out a sign which would leave the "P" in its present position.

Latest Life-Saving Net

Device For Use At Sea Was Successfully Tested

An ingenious life-saving net which experts state will minimize the perils of the sea has been demonstrated at Cardiff.

The invention is a raft consisting of tubular cork bags made into a net lashed with rope. It is produced by a Cardiff ship-repairing firm. It can be unrolled down a ship's side to serve as a ladder, or floated alongside foundering or burning vessels in conditions which would make the launching of an ordinary lifeboat almost impossible.

Orders have been received from liner and "tramp" firms. The device is expected to form the basis of a new industry.

Man To Travel 4,000 Miles To Pursue Life-Long Hobby

At the age of 73 Walter Dannatt, a retired business man of London, will leave shortly to travel a thousand miles up the Amazon in pursuit of his lifelong hobby of butterfly collecting.

Mr. Dannatt has a remarkable collection of butterflies and moths, numbering more than 15,000, and he hopes to add to it considerably as the result of his venture.

"I keep fit by cycling," Mr. Dannatt added. "I have had the same machine for 30 years, and have traveled more than 150,000 miles on it. One week-end I covered more than a hundred miles."

"Before I bought my present machine I had a first safety bicycle in the country."

On the subject of his hobby, Mr. Dannatt said: "Some of my specimens come from as far as the Solomon Islands. The collector who secured them was repeatedly driven off by cannibals in attempting to reach the islands."

First Vessel To Be Chartered For 1935 Season Is The Ashworth Of The Dalgleish Line

Announcing the Ashworth of the Dalgleish line is the first vessel to be chartered for the 1935 season, Brig- the On-to-the-Day Association, at Winnipeg, forecast a record year for grain exports over the Hudson Bay route.

More ships would visit Churchill, Manitoba's northern seaport, this season than any season previously, General Patterson said. Judging from the numerous inquiries received from persons in different countries, General Patterson said many tourists would visit the port this year.

The Ashworth will leave England in time for the opening of the Hudson straits and is expected to dock at Churchill shortly after the opening date, August 16. The Ashworth will bring cargo to Churchill from Newcastle, Antwerp and Liverpool.

Vitamin Exhibit

Science Produces Crystals Which Have Strong Potency

A new vitamin pain killer, pure vitamin "B" made into crystals which give wholesale relief from neuritis, was announced at the joint convention of the Canadian and American Medical Association at Atlantic City.

These crystals are a recent new product of science and so potent that one the size of a pinhead is equal to 100 cases of neuritis, the first human beings to receive this new vitamin treatment.

A pinhead or less, per day is the dose of this pure vitamin which cured or relieved 90 per cent. out of 100 cases of neuritis, the first human beings to receive this new vitamin treatment.

The same tiny dose of pure vitamin also improved some cases of human diabetes.

The vitamin exhibit was made by M. G. Vornau, M.D., who did the medical work. R. R. Williams of Columbia University, who produced the pure crystalline vitamin; and R. R. Waterman and Henry Burkhardt. All are from New York City.

"B" is known as the nerve vitamin, the lack of which causes beriberi. But that it could cure neuritis was unknown. Physicians never had enough of it to try out before.

Girl's Ruse Fools Thief

Receives Jewel From Robber By Clever Trick

A young woman in Shanghai, China, who refused to be alarmed when a thief matched a pearl necklace valued at $10,000 from her car recovered the jewel by a ruse as clever as it was daring. As he started to run away, the woman reached for the other earring and called to him: "Here," she cried, "you might just as well take the other one. I only paid $2.50 for it." The robber, hurrying a stream of invective at her and all other women who were imitation jewelry, stopped the earring he had snatched into the street and left.

Tuberculosis Seals

Receipts Twelve Per Cent. Higher Than In 1933

Receipts from the Christmas sale of the Canadian tuberculosis Association were 12 per cent. higher in 1934 than in 1933. It was reported to an association meeting at Toronto, Nov. 20, that the New Brunswick, Montreal and Hamilton had notable increases.

Research awards to junior staff in the Canadian tuberculosis clinics, for 1934, follow: Dr. C. F. Bennett, Fort St. John, Sask.; Dr. A. R. Boyd, Vancouver.

All Done By Hand

A. E. W. Mason, the famous novelist and dramatist, who is 70 years old, is one of the few popular writers of today who do not dictate their work to a secretary or use a typewriter. He carefully plans every detail of a story before he begins to set it down on paper, then writes all in his small but neat and perfectly legible script. Generally he writes a few chapters, then rewrites them and so on until the book is complete.

Little Journeys In Science

BROMINE

(By Gordon H. Coust, M.A.)

Bromine was discovered about a century ago by the French scientist Balard. The element occurs in nature as bromides, chiefly as magnesium bromide and sodium bromide, which are found in many springs and salt deposits. The Stassfurt deposits in Germany and the salt waters of Michigan and Ohio are richest in bromides. Sea water also contains small amounts of bromides.

Bromine is prepared commercially by the electrolysis of a solution of a bromide or by treating solutions of bromides with the more active element chlorine.

In recent years the demand for bromine has greatly increased, due to its use in the preparation of a compound called ethylene bromide. This compound is a constituent of ethyl gasoline. An effort is being made at the present time by scientists to obtain additional supplies of bromine from the bromides in sea water. Sea water contains about seventy parts of bromine in a million of water, which means that about 2,000 gallons of the water must be treated to secure a pound of bromine. To recover bromine from sea water, a ship was equipped capable of recovering 100,000 pounds of the element per month.

The extraction of bromine from the ocean. The success of this venture has suggested the possibility of extracting gold from sea water in a similar way.

Bromine is a dark-red fuming liquid with a very disagreeable odor. Bromine vapor attacks the eyes very painfully and produces great irritation when inhaled. It is only very rarely used as a heavy sedative and is moderately soluble in water.

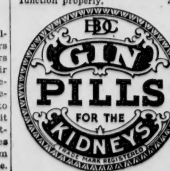

Bromides are compounds produced when bromine combines with other elements. Those of potassium and sodium are used in medicine as sedatives and in the preparation of silver bromide, which is used extensively in photography as the sensitive material on the plate. Bromine is also used in the preparation of important dyes. Considerable quantities of bromine are used in the manufacture of tear-gases, or lacrymators.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-belt, a gay, irresponsible girl of nine, with no care beyond the fact that she has a costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he has, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers her the money that seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack leave for Colorado. New Go On With The Story

"But she had on silk stockings, Jack, and high-heeled slippers! They looked so incongruous with all the rest of her. Well, that'll be something to write home about. I wonder if we ought to go inside. Do you know—I feel sort of nervous. I wish whoever's coming for us would come and get it over with."

"Let's stay right here, this air's so marvelous. Do you suppose they often get such days in winter? Watch out, sis!" Jack lowered his voice. "Catch onto the old dame in the fireman's shirt."

Nancy smiled, eyes following her brother. A white-haired woman had just emerged from the station. She wore a broad-brimmed black felt hat much like a man's, while her long black cape being unfastened, revealed a middie blouse of flaming red. Her feet were clad in stout, black, lace boots, above which an inch or two of cotton stocking met a dark cloth skirt. An eccentric figure, taken as a whole. "And yet," Nancy whispered as she passed them, "she has an air about her. See what I mean, Jack?"

"Yeah," he admitted, "but I bet she's a crank of some sort, just the same. You know, what they call a character. You're right."

Jack passed. The eccentric lady had turned and was approaching rapidly. "I'm looking for two young people," she called to the station, she said rapidly. "Have I found them?"

The question was as unique as the woman; but in that moment her somewhat mannish countenance was lighted by a contagious smile. Jack actually grinned, while Nancy responded quickly: "It looks as if you had! Did Cousin Columbine send you to meet us?"

A quick nod answered her. "I dare say you're hungry as two bears, and so am I. Come in and eat. These Eastern trains always arrive at meal times."

Still talking, she led them toward the station restaurant and motioned to seats at the counter.

"No use in paying a dollar for a dinner when you can get a hot roast beef sandwich for fifty cents. Do you like roast beef? In my opinion there's nothing better. Do you want coffee? They say it's for the people but I've drunk it every day for years."

HEALTH MEANS CHARM AND HAPPINESS

Sparkling eyes and smiling lips speak of health and vitality. Clear skin attracts. The only skin care is to keep it healthy and happy and popular.

Remember that 98 out of 100 women report benefit. Let it help you too.

more than fifty years and am still able to get about," she said, and the waitress, and not giving the young people a chance to answer, offered "Roast beef sandwiches, coffee, lemon meringue pie for three, please; and take your time."

Struck dumb by this breezy invitation, Jack stifled a smile and gave his sister a disconcerting nod. Their escort had flung her cape on a nearby hook, and was a noticeable figure in her broad felt hat and smart middie. People looked at her, mildly amused; but there was nobility in her weatherbeaten countenance, and her smile was winning.

Lunch was quickly served, and there being no privacy at the counter, was consumed in silence save for a few questions regarding their journey. As the train pulled away from the station, both boy and girl turned to watch it, feeling a subtle, regretful twinge, as if some good friend were deserting them; and as Nancy resumed her seat their companion asked, "Sorry to see the train depart without you?"

"I suppose I am," replied the girl, and added at this unexpected insight of her mood: "You see, it makes me sad as if the last bridge behind us was burning. Everything's so different from Massachusetts; and not knowing Cousin Columbine at all I'm almost afraid to go to Colorado."

"The woman smiled one of her nice smiles."

"You needn't be. I don't think you'll find Columbine Nelson hard to love."

"Have you known her long?" asked Jack, hoping to secure a bit of light on the character of their unexpected relative.

"All my life. She was born at Pine Ridge seventy-odd years ago in a covered wagon."

"I know," said Nancy. "It's one of our family stories, that, and how she happened to be named."

"Is it indeed?" The woman tipped their waitress and glanced up quickly. "Oh, there you are, Mark!"

"The lunch room was almost empty now, and as she slipped from the high stool Nancy saw a tall young fellow in a sombrero which he removed as he caught sight of their companion."

Jack stole an amused glance at Nancy—a glance she had no trouble in interpreting. It said as plainly as if he'd spoken: "Enter the forbidden boy friend! Take care, sis!" It was Jack's glance, not the sudden arrival of the unexpected youth which startled her color rose, and suddenly, the girl was furious with her brother.

"This is Mark Adam, who is to drive us up," explained the lady. "Do you suppose your other folks are to go?" Aurora's apt to get flustered in an emergency, but I never saw her so worked up."

This brought a laugh; and Mark said dryly: "I didn't know we'd ever had a christening in Pine Ridge, Miss Columbine. The first party was interrupted by a war!"

"It wasn't," retorted the old lady. "I called back. Keep still, Aurora. This is the first tub bath I've had since my mother washed me in a tin dish pan with only a covered wagon for privacy, and I wouldn't cut it short to the whole of Colorado."

"You'll find the car parked back of the station. I'll be there as soon as I help Matt with the baggage."

"Mark's a good boy," observed their new acquaintance as the driver strode away. "He and his brother came down to the creamery to-day (they run a dairy ranch), so I roped them in to drive us and get your trunks. There isn't a better driver in Pine Ridge than Mark Adam. Nancy, so you've no call to feel nervous going up the pass. Here we are."

They had left the station and were crossing a broad, level prairie as they drove. "You're to ride with Mark, Jack. You boys must get acquainted, and I want a chance to get acquainted with your sister."

Jack grinned as he helped them to their places. He longed to ask if their antiquated cousin had kept these instructions in order to keep them and "that good-looking" as far apart as possible. Knowing that something of this sort was in his mind, Nancy threw him a warning glance, and said, as she sat down beside the eccentric lady whom she was beginning to like immensely: "It's queer, but I feel acquainted with you already; and do you realize we don't even know your name?"

The lined face brightened humorously.

"The truth is, I never tell my name if I can avoid it. That's the only grudge I've got against my parents. I've always wondered if their names weren't affected by the altitude when they inflicted such a misnomer on a helpless infant. My name, you nice young things, is Columbine Nelson!"

CHAPTER VI.

If their unconventional relative had not set off a bomb and blown the old Ford touring car into a million bits she wouldn't have created such a surprise. Jack paused, one foot on the running board, and stared at her; while Nancy gasped: "But—but you can't be! Why a disconcerting noise, a feeble old lady over seventy?"

"Over seventy, I'll admit," alleged their companion, her eyes twinkling, "but not so feeble as she looks to believe. Stop staring at me, Jack. If it's the middie blouse you'll just can't live. It's a place like Pine Ridge where there's no dressmaker. I welcomed them with joy when they came into fashion years ago; and I shall continue to wear them fashion or no fashion, as long as they can be bought by mail. The red ones are for gala occasions like the present. Usually I wear blue. Here comes our driver. Will you kindly testify that my name is Nelson, Mark? These young folks seem to be unbelieving."

Mark Adam laughed as he swung into the driver's seat. "It is unless she got married when I dropped her at the Court House two hours back," he stated. "I saw her with you, and I'm admiring her, Miss Columbine."

"Admiring?" Columbine Nelson smiled contemptuously. "It's more like being thinking. There's that old freak come down from Pine Ridge again. Stop at the Cash and Carry for a box of canned stuff, and then head for home of Matthew will get there first and not know where to put the luggage."

"Can't Aurora tell him?"

"They had turned into a street that faced the mountain, from which Nancy could hardly take her eyes."

"Not Aurora. To Cousin Columbine was saying, 'So you flustered at the idea of having company like that, and she had him put those trunks in the car. We have a bathroom, Nancy, which no doubt you'll be relieved to have. There's only one other in the village, and that's the doctor's. He belongs to a rich old man from Oklahoma. I went to the extravagance in 1914, just before the great war started over in Europe."

The doctor was I was christening the tub when the news came, and Aurora here after married a German. The Weismuller up at Cripple Creek and as good a fellow as ever lived, came rushing upstairs with the paper. She actually wept, and the doctor and I shouted: 'Miss Columbine! Miss Columbine! Don't bother to wash. The Germans have started fighting. Do you suppose our Otto has gone to go?' Aurora's apt to get flustered in an emergency, but I never saw her so worked up."

This brought a laugh; and Mark said dryly: "I didn't know we'd ever had a christening in Pine Ridge, Miss Columbine. The first party was interrupted by a war!"

"It wasn't," retorted the old lady. "I called back. Keep still, Aurora. This is the first tub bath I've had since my mother washed me in a tin dish pan with only a covered wagon for privacy, and I wouldn't cut it short to the whole of Colorado."

"You'll find the car parked back of the station. I'll be there as soon as I help Matt with the baggage."

"Mark's a good boy," observed their new acquaintance as the driver strode away. "He and his brother came down to the creamery to-day (they run a dairy ranch), so I roped them in to drive us and get your trunks. There isn't a better driver in Pine Ridge than Mark Adam. Nancy, so you've no call to feel nervous going up the pass. Here we are."

BABY'S OWN SOAP

Enjoyed by the parents of all Canadians.

Nancy couldn't restrain a giggle, and Jack laughed outright; but Cousin Columbine remarked severely: "If you expect me, or anybody in Pine Ridge to contradict you, young man, you'll be disappointed. In my day it wasn't considered modest to fish for compliments. The green gingham, oh, boy. Why don't you get along?"

"Too crushed to move," he told her, and proceeded to start the engine as quietly as its age allowed. "I'll park somewhere on a side street, Miss Columbine. There's no space in front of the Cash and Carry; but I'll walk over and get your box. It's only half a block."

Eager to stretch his legs, Jack strode off the old lady remarked critically: "Jack, this car isn't too grown too fast, most likely, and been cooped up in school. A year in the open will do wonders for him."

Nancy thought with sudden contentment: "A year! How she expects us to stay that long!" but managed to answer: "That's why Mother let him come. The doctor said we needed outdoor life more than a diploma."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

GREAT JOYS

Laughter is for little joys. Childhood thoughts mirth. All the bubbling merriment of a child's life. Words are for the joys that last but an hour or so. Fitting out so lightly we know not where they go.

But the great joys; Silence heard in hand with these; Speech could have no part to play in their mystery; A sudden, light, Dazzling to the eyes. Only for an instant, wings soaring through the skies!

Tree Provides Food

Produces Nuts Which Look Like Eggs When Cooked

A rare tree providing food is the property of George Grant, a resident of Bonarville, Bermuda. When he is short of eggs to accompany his morning bacon, he goes into his garden and plucks one from a tree. The tree bears a fruit, the size and color of a pomegranate. The fruit bursts open when ripe and "lays" a nut about the size of a hen's egg yolk. Mr. Grant cooks these for five minutes when it turns a beautiful golden yellow. Garnished with white sauce it looks exactly like a boiled egg. Mr. Grant is the only man in the colony with such a tree. It was brought three years ago by his father. It is a native of Africa, where it is called the Akee.

Joking Customer—"How much are your four-dollar shoes?"

Smart Salesman—"Two dollars a foot."

When Canada geese migrate, the more powerful birds take turn leading the flight.

He gives best who gives without waiting.

He's ready for his hat again, found it still missing, blushed redder, and started the truck with such a jolt that even milk cans were rattled drunkenly in the rear. Such confusion amused his brother, and a quiet laugh escaped from Nancy. She said: "It's really hard to tell."

"Born that way," responded Cousin Columbine.

"And so good looking!" observed Nancy.

They had stopped at a traffic signal, and their driver turned his head a little to say "over his shoulder: 'The family beauty'."

Keep Record Of Graduates

Careers Of Alberta's Commercial Students Followed Up

Business men of Alberta, who seek university graduates for their office or field staffs, will be aided by the University of Alberta. Under the direction of Dr. W. C. Wallace, president, leading firms will be given information about the qualifications of graduates seeking a commercial course in life.

Investigation into careers of the university's school of commerce graduates resulted in reports on 97 of the 127 men and women graduated from the institution since it started in 1923. They are employed in Alberta, Toronto, Vancouver, the United States and in Honolulu.

Some have taken up teaching; others are engaged in secretarial commission offices and in general commercial lines. One graduate took up farming.

The survey showed that only seven of the 127 graduates had married since leaving the commercial school.

Vimy Pilgrimage

Lady Laid To Attend The Vimy

That Lady Laid will be present at Canada's unveiling of the War Memorial at Vimy next July was announced to-day by Brigadier General Alex Ross, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion.

"I am so grateful to you for your kind letter which has reached me regarding the Canadian Pilgrimage in 1936," wrote Lady Laid. "It will be a wonderful gathering to unveil the war memorial, and I shall feel much honored that the members of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League have allowed me to accompany them."

Canada's Peace Army, registration to date is now over a thousand and expected to reach twenty times that figure, will attend the unveiling of the Canada's War Memorial at Vimy Ridge in July of next year.

A short time before his death the bachelor told his little nurse that he would leave her his house and two acres of land on which it stood. He never told her of the fortune that was in store. In fact, no one in the district thought that he had any money.

Reward With Fortune

Lonely Bachelor Leaves Little Nurse House And Money

Because she looked after an old bachelor when he was dying, the 15-year-old daughter of a family at Qualicum Beach, B.C. has now a fortune of $200,000.

For five months Benjamin Muhler had been ill. Every day the girl would go from her home, close by, to the small house of the bachelor and look after his needs.

British Film Stars

Leave Hollywood In Compliance With Immigration Regulations

Foreign born film players have to watch the United States immigration requirements closely. Two of them, Thomas Clark and Gerry Marco, English, have left Hollywood.

Clark, who appeared in "The Barrets of Wimpole Street" and Marco, who played in "Clive of India," declared before they left they were going voluntary. They had not been accused of overstaying their visitors' permits.

Life Expectancy

Insurance Company Estimates Life Chances Of Quintuplets

By living through the hazards of their first year, the Dionne quintuplets overcome risks equivalent to those one woman would encounter in 31 years of life Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians computed.

They estimated any one of the quintuplets had a life expectancy now of 65 years. As a group, however, the expectation was only 39 years.

A BARBER WHO HAD RHEUMATISM

Tells How He Carried On

A barber who had been "a martyr to rheumatism" writes: "I have been a martyr to rheumatism for some ten years. For five years I was a sufferer from it with the greatest difficulty I was able to carry on my business. I may say I am a barber by trade. After having tried numerous remedies, I was finally relieved by two months. I am now free from pain and pains that I have been for some ten years. In fact I consider I am rid of rheumatism, thanks to Kruschen Salts."

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effective solvents of uric acid known to medicine. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals, then convert them into a harmless solution. Other ingredients of these salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys, and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acid through the natural channel.

Little Helps For This Week

Teach me your mood O patient stars, Who watch each night the ancient sky, Lending on space no shade, no stars. No trace of age, no fear, no die.

Look up to the heavens and the greatness of the stars would seem to reach you. "We are safe up here," they seem to say, "we shine fearless and confident, for the God who gave the prince the crown leaves to him the stars. The stars are his things. We cannot fall out of His sight. Lift up your face, O high and behold; who hath created these things that bringeth out their host by number? He calleth them all by names." By the greatness of His might, for He is strong in power, not one faileth."

Success In Business

Depends Very Largely On How Hard One Works

There is altogether too much nonsense talked about business. The world is full of theorists, men who can tell others how a business should be operated but who have never been able to make a success of one themselves. To conduct a business successfully three things are essential: money, ability, and a tremendous capacity for hard and strenuous work. It is the last of the three which contributes the greatest part to the success of a business, but it is a wise combination of the three which provides work for hundreds of thousands of men and women all over Canada.

Thursday, June 20 1935

A fairly steady rain that started Friday evening and continued intermittently until Monday noon brought relief for a time at least to the crops in the Champion district. Crops in the south east and south west parts of the district are showing distinct signs of burning and need abundant moisture, however, crops in the north are showing splendid growth due to more rain falling there. Grasshoppers are being held in check. Gardens and pastures are showing some improvement.

Dr. Freeze has finished the medical inspection of six schools in the north end of the district.

Russian school picnic will be held at the Bar U on Wednesday, June 20th.

Mrs. Bastin was a tea hostess on Saturday afternoon in honor of Fred. Ten young ladies were present.

A Social Credit meeting was held in the Community hall, Champion June 18th. There was quite a large crowd in attendance representing many towns and districts of one constituency. The meeting was opened by chairman, Rev. Peter Dawson by singing the theme song, "O God our Help in Ages Past," we then had short addresses by Rev. Hansell of Vulcan and Mr. Erwin of Arrowwood. Accompanying the speaker from Calgary was Mr. Thompson, who gave a very humorous talk. The speaker, J. P. McCallery gave a very clear account of Social Credit, as well as answering some questions very distinctly. The impression taken away with the large majority was that Social Credit is here to stay.

Minutes of the regular meeting of May were read and adopted.

The teacher's and Inspector Williams report were read and adopted.

Local accounts were passed. Miss Ethel McDougall was nominated as teacher for the ensuing school year.

The school committee in general was discussed and the meeting adjourned.

Silk crepe Hose, they wear longer because the silk threads are twisted stronger. At 75c and $1.00 a pair at Campbell's.

All were present at the regular meeting of the council on Monday evening, June 17th. Mr. Dupre presented a petition signed by seven taxpayers north of Block 2 and 6300 A asking for a fire wall to be built in the above block. The council requested that the district cost of construction be given them at their next regular meeting.

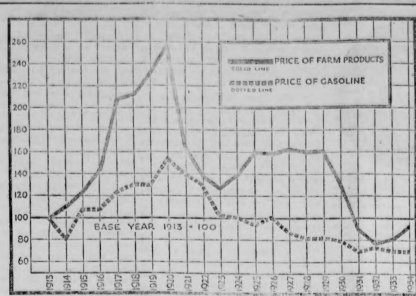

The secretary's statement of receipt and expenditures was read and passed. Local accounts were read and passed. The Municipal Inspector's report was adopted and ordered filed following instructions therein.

Fire equipment came in for some discussion and it was decided to order a 32 ft. fire ladder to add to the present equipment.

By-Law No. 5 A was given its final reading and passed with instructions to the secretary to have the same published in the local paper.

White Canvas Shoes, either one strap or Oxford. Wonderful Value. $1.50 pair at Campbell's.

The funeral of the late H. Ficht, old timer of the Champion district was held Friday at Rockford Bridge, Alberta. The late Mr. Ficht, who was in his 85th year, came to Champion district in 1904, intermarrying to Leonard and then to Rockford Bridge, where he resided at the time of his death. Mr. Ficht had visited in this district many times recently and had endeared himself to a large circle of friends, who regret his passing. His wife predeceased him in 1925. The immediate surviving relatives are one daughter, Mrs. Harold Tindell of Champion; and three sons, Harry of Seattle, Jim of Edmonton and Glen of Rockford Bridge.

The depressed price of farm products is a problem with which everyone is familiar, but on the 1913 basis farm product prices have never been as low as gasoline. Between 1913 and 1929 gasoline did not run in price to nearly the extent as farm products, yet since 1929 its price has almost continuously declined. The data in the above graph are based on figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

A DYING WAGE

WHEN we started business in 1880 our first rule was to pay a fair living wage.

In 1919 we decided a living wage was not enough. We should pay a dying wage, too. We knew how hard it is for the worker to make provision for his old age and for his dependents in the event of his death.

So we introduced benefits and pensions plans. Sickness benefits—the incapacitated employee to continue drawing pay according to his term of service; pension—a fair living allowance for the worker who reaches old age; death benefits—a cheque immediately for the deceased worker's family. These things lifted a burden of care from our employees' shoulders—made them happier, more enterprising and more efficient. They lifted a burden from the shoulders of the Canadian taxpayer, too.

We are proud of these plans which have helped so much to build up a loyal organization of thousands of Canadian workers. Their devotion to their work has made it possible for us to serve Canada with quality products at lower and lower prices.
